2010 Distinguished Service Award Nominations

The Distinguished Service Award recognizes an individual who has made great contributions to education in the Midwestern Region. Submit your nomination today, and help us recognize a colleague who has demonstrated enduring and distinguished service to American education, students and the College Board.

We encourage you to nominate a colleague with the following characteristics:

- An innovator and leader in his or her educational field
- A forceful spokesperson for important educational and societal goals
- A person who has worked within and reached beyond his or her professional area to promote educational ideals
- An educator who has made highly significant accomplishments that are not necessarily widely known or rewarded

Qualifications

All nominees must be active in their field for at least 15 years. Nominees must be involved in regional College Board activities and may also have participated in national College Board activities.

Award

The Distinguished Service Award is given at least once every three years, but it may not be awarded every year. If a winner is selected for 2010, the award will be presented at the annual Midwestern Regional Forum in February.
