Exam Fees for 2015
The fee is now $91 per exam in the United States, U.S. territories, and Canada. The fee is now $121 per exam at schools outside the U.S., U.S. territories, and Canada (with the exception of DoDDS schools). The per-exam rebate that schools can retain to offset exam administration costs has increased from $8 to $9. The exam fee varies for College Board–authorized testing centers outside the United States.

New AP Studio Art Resource
Early this school year, AP Studio Art teachers and students will receive a new publication that replaces the poster. This new brochure details the portfolio requirements for the three AP Studio Art courses and offers students guidance for planning their work and recording their progress.

Course and Exam Changes

Computer Science A
Starting in the 2014-15 school year, the GridWorld case study will be replaced by a required lab component consisting of a minimum of 20 hours of hands-on lab experiences. Three new AP Computer Science A labs are available through teachers’ AP Course Audit accounts as exemplars to support the implementation of at least 20 hours of hands-on lab work in the classroom. For more information, visit the AP Computer Science A Course Home Page (apcentral.collegeboard.org/coursehomepages).

AP Seminar
This fall, the AP Seminar course will launch at more than 135 participating schools worldwide as part of the new AP Capstone™ program. For more information about AP Seminar and AP Capstone, visit www.collegeboard.org/apcapstone.

Redesigned AP Courses and Exams
Redesigned courses and exams in Physics B (being replaced by two new courses, Physics 1 and Physics 2) and U.S. History launch this year. Visit AP Central® (apcentral.collegeboard.org) for important information and resources for these courses.

Physics 1: Algebra-Based
This course is equivalent to a first-semester college course in algebra-based physics. The course covers Newtonian mechanics (including rotational dynamics and angular momentum); work, energy, and power; and mechanical waves and sound. It will also introduce electric circuits.

Physics 2: Algebra-Based
This course is equivalent to a second-semester college course in algebra-based physics. The course covers fluid mechanics, thermodynamics, electricity and magnetism, optics, and atomic and nuclear physics.

U.S. History
Beginning with the 2015 exam, students are required to apply historical thinking skills and knowledge of content as they respond, in writing, to new short-answer, document-based, and essay questions. Newly designed multiple-choice questions ask students to use their knowledge of content to analyze and interpret primary and secondary sources.

Visit Advances in AP (advancesinap.collegeboard.org) for information about redesigned courses and exams in Art History and European History, which will launch in 2015-16.

- Coordinators are responsible for notifying students when and where to report for the exams. Early testing or testing at times other than those published by the College Board is not permitted under any circumstances.
- Coordinators should order late-testing exams for students who would like to take exams that are scheduled for the same time.
- Schools in Alaska must begin the morning exam administration between 7 and 8 a.m. local time and the afternoon exam administration between 11 a.m. and 12 p.m. local time. The AP Physics C: Electricity and Magnetism Exam in Alaska must begin between 1 and 2 p.m. local time.
- AP Seminar End-of-Course Exams are only available to students at schools participating in the AP Capstone Program.
The College Board is a mission-driven not-for-profit organization that connects students to college success and opportunity. Founded in 1900, the College Board was created to expand access to higher education. Today, the membership association is made up of over 6,000 of the world’s leading educational institutions and is dedicated to promoting excellence and equity in education. Each year, the College Board helps more than seven million students prepare for a successful transition to college through programs and services in college readiness and college success — including the SAT® and the Advanced Placement Program®. The organization also serves the education community through research and advocacy on behalf of students, educators, and schools.

With AP® students can get a feel for the rigors of college-level studies while they still have the support of a high school environment. When students take AP courses, they demonstrate to college admission officers that they have sought out an educational experience that will prepare them for success in college and beyond.

Resourceful and dedicated AP teachers work with their students to develop and apply the skills, abilities, and content knowledge they will need later in college. Each of AP’s 36 courses is modeled upon a comparable college course. College and university faculty play a vital role in ensuring that AP courses align with college-level standards.

Each AP course concludes with a college-level exam developed and scored by college and university faculty members as well as experienced AP teachers. AP Exams are an essential part of the AP experience, enabling students to apply the new critical thinking skills they have learned in a comprehensive exam. Most two- and four-year colleges and universities worldwide recognize AP in the admission process and accept successful exam scores for credit, advanced placement, or both.

Performing well on an AP Exam means more than just the successful completion of a course. Research consistently shows that students who score a 3 or higher typically earn higher GPAs in college and have higher graduation rates.

The AP Year: An Overview

August 2014
- Announcements of upcoming AP workshops for professional development are mailed to schools.
- Principals or designated school administrators should access their AP Course Audit accounts to renew previously authorized courses for the new school year. All AP Physics 1: Algebra-Based, Physics 2: Algebra-Based, and United States History teachers must submit a new course syllabus for authorization during the 2014–15 academic year. New teachers of AP courses should be encouraged to participate in the AP Course Audit if they haven’t already done so. For more information, visit www.collegeboard.org/apcourseaudit.

September 2014
- Schools receive annual AP participation materials.
- AP Scholar Award and AP International Diploma certificates are sent to students.
- AP Studio Art Portfolio Requirements brochures are mailed to schools to the attention of the AP Studio Art teacher.
- Sept. 15 — Deadline for ordering free-response booklets from the 2014 AP Exam administration.

October 2014
- Schools complete the annual AP participation materials and designate their AP Coordinators.
- Mailing of 2014 AP Exam free-response booklets begins to schools that have ordered them.
- Oct. 15 — Preferred date by which administrators should renew previously authorized courses for the 2014-15 school year.
- Oct. 31 — Deadline for students to request the Multiple-Choice Rescore Service for the 2014 AP Exam administration.

November 2014
- AP Course Ledger of authorized 2014-15 AP courses is available at www.collegeboard.org/apcourseledger.
- 2014 U.S. State and National Summary Reports and the Canadian Summary Report are posted on http://research.collegeboard.org/programs/ap/data.
- Rebate checks are mailed to AP Coordinators administering at least 150 exams.
- Nov. 15 — Deadline for schools to return the AP Participation Form and Survey.

December 2014
- The AP Program begins to mail the AP Coordinator’s Manual, a supply of the Bulletin for AP Students and Parents (available in English and, by request, in Spanish or large type), and other information to schools that have submitted AP Participation Forms.
- Principals receive the PSAT/NMSQT® Roster of Student Scores and Plans, which includes schools’ AP Potential™ access codes.
- AP Potential becomes available this month at apppotential.collegeboard.org.

January 2015
- AP Coordinators can begin ordering AP Exams online at www.collegeboard.org/school.
- Mid to late January — The AP Studio Art Digital Submission Web application becomes available. Visit professionals.collegeboard.org/studioartdigital for details.

February 2015
- The 11th Annual AP Report to the Nation is released. Visit apreport.collegeboard.org for details.
- Upcoming AP Summer Institutes for professional development are announced.
- Feb. 20 — Deadline for submitting requests for testing accommodations for students with disabilities.

March 2015
- Schools may begin submitting AP Course Audit materials for new courses offered in 2015-16.
- AP Coordinators work with SSD Coordinators to ensure nonstandard test formats are ordered online.
- Deadlines to place orders for preadministration materials:
  - Orders placed by March 11 will be delivered by April 3.
  - Orders placed between March 12 and April 1 will be delivered by April 13.
April 2015
- AP Coordinators receive and check exam materials.
- Various exam ordering deadlines occur throughout April — See page 10 for details.
- April 24 — Schools outside the United States, U.S. territories, and Canada receive shipments of regular exams no later than this date if exam orders were placed on or before April 10.
- April 27 — Schools in the United States, U.S. territories, and Canada receive shipments of regular exams no later than this date if exam orders were placed on or before April 17.

May 2015
- AP Exams are administered May 4–8 and May 11–15, 2015. See the exam schedule on the back cover.
- Alternate exams are administered May 20–22, 2015. See the late-testing schedule on the back foldout panel.

June 2015
- AP Exams are scored.
- June 1 — Deadline for AP Services to receive all exam materials. Schools are billed twice the fee for each exam in shipments received after this date.
- June 15 — Postmark deadline for exam payments and invoices submitted to AP Services. Late payments incur a $225 fee.
- June 15 — Deadline for AP Services to receive students’ requests to change college score report recipients and to withhold scores for the current year’s administration.

Students may cancel scores at any time, but June 15 is the deadline for canceling scores before release of the 2015 AP score reports.

July 2015
- AP score reports are available to designated colleges, students, high schools, and districts.
- Teachers of authorized AP courses and school administrators can access AP Instructional Planning Reports. These reports include subject-specific data on how students performed on the various topics within the AP Exams.
- July 22–26 — AP Annual Conference 2015, Austin, TX

August 2015
- Announcements of upcoming AP workshops for professional development are mailed to schools.
- Principals or designated school administrators should access their AP Course Audit accounts to renew previously authorized courses for the new school year. All AP Art History and AP European History teachers must submit a new course syllabus for authorization during the 2015-16 academic year. New teachers of AP courses should be encouraged to participate in the AP Course Audit if they haven’t already done so. For more information, visit www.collegeboard.org/apcourseaudit.

September 2015

October 2015
- Oct. 15, 2015 — Preferred date by which administrators should renew previously authorized courses for the 2015-16 school year.
- Oct. 31, 2015 — Deadline for students to request the Multiple-Choice Rescore Service for the 2015 AP Exam administration.
Obtain a College Board School Code

A school must have an active six-digit school code to order and administer exams and receive students’ exam scores. Educational Testing Service® (ETS®) assigns these codes to schools that complete the High School Code Request Form and meet certain criteria.

Three College Board programs — AP, PSAT/NMSQT, and SAT® — share the same school codes; a school that has participated in any of these programs will already have a code. Schools can contact AP Services for Educators at 877-274-6474 to check whether they have an active code or to request a High School Code Request Form. Schools in Canada should call the College Board office in British Columbia at 800-667-4548. Schools outside the United States and Canada can contact International Services at international@collegeboard.org or 001 212-373-8738.

Offer Authorized AP Courses

Schools wishing to use the “AP” designation on their courses must participate in the AP Course Audit. The AP Course Audit was created at the request of College Board members who sought a means for the College Board to provide teachers and administrators with clear guidelines on curricular and resource requirements for AP courses, and to help colleges and universities more clearly interpret secondary school courses marked “AP” on students’ transcripts. For more information on the AP Course Audit, visit www.collegeboard.org/apcourseaudit.

Enroll AP Students

The College Board strongly encourages educators to make equitable access a guiding principle for their AP programs by giving all willing and academically prepared students the opportunity to participate in AP. We encourage the elimination of barriers that restrict access to AP for students from ethnic, racial, and socioeconomic groups that have been traditionally underserved. Schools should make every effort to ensure their AP classes reflect the diversity of their student population. The College Board also believes that all students should have access to academically challenging course work before they enroll in AP classes, which can prepare them for AP success. It is only through a commitment to equitable preparation and access that true equity and excellence can be achieved.

For more information about building an equitable AP program, visit www.collegeboard.org/apequity.

AP Potential™

AP Potential is a Web-based service that can help schools identify potential AP students. Studies have shown that performance on the PSAT/NMSQT can be used to identify students who are likely to be successful on AP Exams. Using such data, AP Potential provides school and district offices with a roster of potential students by name and suggested AP course, giving administrators useful information for expanding AP opportunities at their schools. For more information about AP Potential, visit appotential.collegeboard.org.

Designate an AP Coordinator

Each participating school designates an AP Coordinator who takes primary responsibility for organizing and administering that school’s AP program. The AP Coordinator manages the receipt, distribution, administration, and return of AP Exam materials. The AP Coordinator may be a full- or part-time administrator or counselor, or a faculty member who does not teach an AP course. Please be aware that a conflict of interest may result in score cancellation.

To avoid any perceived conflict of interest, the AP Coordinator cannot:

► Be an AP teacher;
► Be the AP Coordinator in the year in which an immediate family or household member may be taking an AP Exam at the school where he or she works or at any other school. Coordinators have access to all AP Exams, which presents a conflict of interest;
► Be employed part or full time at a test-preparation company;
► Participate in any coaching activity that addresses the content of secure College Board tests; or
► Proctor an AP Exam in a subject area in which he or she teaches or has taught. See the table “AP Subject Areas for Assigning Proctors” in the AP Coordinator’s Manual for more information.

See pages 30–31 for resources and support available for AP Coordinators.

Complete the AP Participation Materials

In September, each school principal receives AP participation materials. These materials include an AP Participation Form, a Participation Survey, and other information needed for the upcoming school year. Schools that do not receive participation materials by late October should contact AP Services. Participating schools must complete these materials annually and should submit them no later than Nov. 15. Signed by both the school’s principal and the AP Coordinator, the AP Participation Form serves as an agreement by the school to follow all AP Exam administration policies outlined in the AP Coordinator’s Manual. Completing this form does not obligate the school to administer AP Exams in May.

May 8

Order AP Exams

Coordinators must order all regularly scheduled and late-testing AP Exams online at www.collegeboard.org/school. Schools may also order Braille and 14- and 20-point large-type exams and large-block (enlarged) answer sheets online. Instructions for ordering are emailed in January to the address provided on the school’s AP Participation Form.

After an order is placed it cannot be decreased once it has been processed for shipment, which can be as early as 6 p.m. ET on the day the order is placed. Schools are charged a $15 fee for each unused exam. This fee is not assessed for an exam that is replaced by an alternate exam for late testing unless the alternate exam itself goes unused. Additional orders can be placed for no fee, as long as they are submitted before the extension deadline.

Note: Exam fees, unused exam fees, refund policies, and ordering deadlines vary at authorized test centers outside the United States.

Before placing an order, Coordinators should:

- Consult with AP teachers and students to determine the number of exams to order for each AP course.
- Check with the appropriate AP teachers to be sure the correct exams are ordered — AP Calculus, Economics, English, Government and Politics, History, Physics, Spanish, and Studio Art each have more than one exam.
- Consult with your school’s Services for Students with Disabilities Coordinator to ensure that you are ordering the appropriate materials for these students.
- Consider ordering preadministration materials with the initial exam order. A preadministration session, during which students complete the personal identification sections of their registration answer sheets for the regularly scheduled exams, will save students time on exam day.

Guidelines on Students’ Choice of Exams

The AP Program does not require students to take an AP course before taking an AP Exam. Students may take as many AP Exams as they want, with the following qualifications:

- Students may not take both Calculus AB and Calculus BC within the same year.
- A student may not take an exam more than once in the same year; however, a student may repeat an exam in a subsequent year. In such cases, both scores will be reported unless the student requests that one be withheld or canceled.
- If a student wants to take two exams scheduled at the same time, he or she must take an alternate form of one of the exams during the late-testing administration.
A student may submit more than one AP Studio Art portfolio as long as not more than one of each type of portfolio is submitted. (For instance, a student may not submit two Drawing portfolios in the same year.) There must be no duplication of works among the portfolios, and portfolios cannot be combined. The AP Coordinator must order a separate exam and collect a separate fee for each type of portfolio.

Order Exams for Students with Disabilities

In order to use accommodations on AP Exams, students must request and receive approval for accommodations from the College Board Services for Students with Disabilities (SSD). Nonstandard exam formats, such as Braille or large type, must be ordered by the AP Coordinator.

Students with documented disabilities who have not yet been approved for accommodations should work with the school’s SSD Coordinator to apply for them well before the AP Exam administration. The SSD Coordinator requests and manages the accommodations online. Detailed information regarding SSD processes is available at www.collegeboard.org/ssd. Information about requesting accommodations online is available at www.collegeboard.org/ssdonline. AP-specific information is available under Administering Exams on the left.

Please note that it takes approximately seven weeks from the receipt of all necessary documentation for the College Board to determine a student’s eligibility for accommodations. Requests should be submitted by Feb. 20 to ensure that a decision is made by the April 10 final ordering deadline (see page 10). Although requests for accommodations submitted after this date may be decided prior to the exam date, there is no guarantee that accommodations will be approved and exam materials will be shipped in time for the exam.

Coordinators are encouraged to request accommodations well before the established deadlines — as early as a student’s first year of high school.

If a student was previously approved for accommodations by the College Board, he or she remains approved and does not need to submit a new request for accommodations. Although accommodations, once approved, are approved for all College Board testing programs (AP, SAT, PSAT/NMSQT), not all approved accommodations are relevant for all tests (e.g., “extended time for math only” would not apply to an AP United States History Exam). Therefore, it is critical that students and schools clearly identify the accommodations that are needed for each test.

Detailed information about making changes to accommodations, approving the transfer of accommodations for students moving from other schools, and other issues concerning students with disabilities can be found at www.collegeboard.org/ssd.

SSD Coordinators can view a list of all students in their school who are approved for accommodations, such as extended time, Braille and 14- or 20-point large-type exams, and large-block (enlarged) answer sheets at any time, on SSD Online, and should work with the AP Coordinator to order nonstandard format exams.

- If a student’s only approved accommodation is extended time, the AP Coordinator should order a regular-format exam.
- Because students with extended time test in separate rooms, make sure to order extra master CDs (e.g., listening, presentational writing, sight-singing, speaking) for the applicable world language and Music Theory exams.
- AP Coordinators should make sure to order AP Student Packs for all students, including those with disabilities, when placing the order online.

Order Exams for Home-Schooled Students and Students Whose Schools Do Not Offer AP

The AP Program encourages schools to assist home-schooled students and students whose schools do not offer AP because these students and their parents cannot order or administer AP Exams. These students can arrange to test at participating schools by following the steps below:

- Contact AP Services for Students at 888-225-5427 (toll free in the United States and Canada) or 212-632-1780 no later than March 2 to get the names and telephone numbers of local AP Coordinators who may be willing to arrange testing for students outside the school or district.
- Contact the Coordinators identified by AP Services for Students no later than March 16 to determine if one of them is able to arrange testing of students outside the school or district.
- Students should inform each Coordinator that they are trying to locate a school willing to administer exams to home-schooled students or students whose schools do not offer AP. Students should communicate which exams they plan to take and what testing accommodations (if applicable) will be needed.
- Schools that agree to administer exams to these students should note the following:
  - Coordinators are responsible for confirming the exams these students plan to take, ordering the necessary exam materials, and informing the students when and where to take the exams.
Coordinators should collect and submit these students’ exam fees along with the fees from the Coordinator’s school.

Coordinators may negotiate a higher exam fee with these students to recover additional proctoring or administration costs.

Coordinators should remind these students to bring valid photo identification, which must be checked on exam day.

Coordinators should provide the Bulletin for AP Students and Parents to these students so that they are aware of all of the requirements.

Because these students will be using a different school code, their exam scores will not be included with the administering school’s score reports.

Any home-schooled student with documented disabilities must first be approved for testing accommodations by submitting an accommodations request and supporting documentation to the College Board. Complete information is available at www.collegeboard.org/ssd.

Order Alternate Exams for Late Testing

Occasionally, circumstances make it necessary for students to test late. To preserve the security of AP Exams, the College Board develops alternate forms of each exam for late testing, which may be administered only on the scheduled dates and at the scheduled times during the late-testing period. See the back foldout panel for the 2015 late-testing schedule.

Coordinators must order alternate exams for late testing online. See page 10 for ordering deadlines. When the cause of late testing is beyond the control of the school and the students, there is no additional fee for using the alternate form of the exam. In other instances, an additional $45 is charged for each exam to partially defray the additional development and scoring costs. Schools may be charged the $45 per-exam fee for instances in which retesting is necessary because of testing irregularities or security violations. The complete list of circumstances for which the AP Program authorizes schools to conduct late testing is published in the AP Coordinator’s Manual.

Collect Exam Fees

Coordinators are responsible for collecting exam fees from students. Checks and money orders should be made payable to the school administering the exam, not the College Board.

Exam Fees

The fee for each exam is $91, with schools retaining a $9 rebate per exam. See the Summary of Fees table on page 28 for 2015 international exam fees. The amount schools collect from students, however, may vary under certain circumstances:

- Schools may be charged an additional $45 per exam for alternate exams administered during the late-testing period, depending on the reasons for late testing. The complete list of circumstances for which the AP Program authorizes schools to conduct late testing is published in the AP Coordinator’s Manual. Schools may ask students to pay part or all of this additional fee.

- Schools may negotiate a higher fee to recover proctoring and administration costs.

- College Board fee reductions and state and federal subsidies are available for students with financial need.

Fee Reductions

The College Board provides a $29 fee reduction per exam for students with financial need. Schools are expected to forgo their $9 rebate for these students, resulting in a cost of $53 per exam.

Many states use federal and state funding to further reduce the exam fee for these students. The fee reductions available in each state can be found at collegeboard.org/apexamfeeassistance in the spring.

Rebates for AP Coordinators with Large AP Programs

To provide large-volume AP schools with additional support, the College Board will send rebates to them in November (to the attention of the AP Coordinator, payable to the school) for discretionary use in hiring temporary staff to assist with the AP Exam administration, providing an honorarium or professional development funds for AP Coordinators, or covering other expenses associated with managing an AP program. Because the complexity of an AP Coordinator’s work varies directly with the number of exams administered, the amount of the rebate varies proportionately:

- $250 for schools giving 150–499 exams
- $500 for schools giving 500–749 exams
- $1,000 for schools giving 750–999 exams
- $1,500 for schools giving 1,000–1,999 exams
- $3,000 for schools giving 2,000 or more exams

Note that the amount of the rebate is determined by the number of exams given in the previous exam administration. Designated authorized test centers outside the United States, as well as schools that do not administer their own exams, will not receive this rebate.
Administering AP Exams

The following briefly describes key procedures related to the AP Exam administration in May. Details about all aspects of administering AP Exams are provided in the AP Coordinator’s Manual, available at www.collegeboard.org/apcoordinator in November and sent to participating schools in December.

Check and Store Exam Materials

Exams are sent to the AP Coordinator and arrive at the school in mid to late April. Alternate exams for late testing will arrive in May. Within 24 hours of receiving the exam materials, the Coordinator must check the contents of the shipment. This procedure for receiving and checking exam materials must take place in a secure area with only authorized personnel present; the exam cartons must then be resealed, your name signed across the tape, and placed in secure, locked storage. If there is a discrepancy between the exams received and the exams ordered, the Coordinator should contact AP Services for Educators immediately. AP Studio Art portfolios are not secure exam materials and should be given to the AP Studio Art teacher after they have been inventoried. (See instructions for AP Studio Art in the AP Coordinator’s Manual.) It is critical that schools administer the regular exams on the regularly scheduled exam dates and the alternate exams for late testing on the late-testing exam dates. If a school does not administer the exams on the specified dates at the specified times, scores for those exams will be canceled. A best practice is to keep the two sets of exam materials in separate storage areas.

Preserve Exam Security

The AP Program must provide all students with an equal opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge and skills, but can guarantee reliable and valid assessment only when all students test under the same conditions, without prior knowledge of exam questions. Therefore, the AP Program has implemented several policies designed to reduce potential security risks and maintain fairness. While the following are the key policies that help ensure the fairness and security of AP Exam administrations at all schools, Coordinators must follow the complete administration instructions and security procedures detailed in the AP Coordinator’s Manual and in the AP Exam Instructions book.

Schools that knowingly or unknowingly violate these policies may not be permitted to administer AP Exams in the future and may be held responsible for any damages or losses the College Board and/or ETS incur in the event of a security breach. Any breach of exam security, however minor, must be reported to the Office of Testing Integrity. See the inside back cover for contact information.

Exam Schedules

An AP Exam may be administered only on its scheduled date, at the set time. See the back cover for the 2015 exam schedule. Early testing is not permitted under any circumstances. Proctors may allow students to enter the testing rooms to complete the personal identification portion of their answer sheets before an exam’s official start time, but the actual AP Exam booklets or exam CDs may not be opened before the set times under any circumstances.

Each AP Exam features a security statement on the front cover that the student must sign to affirm that the exam was administered on the date and time indicated on the covers, that the multiple-choice items will not be disclosed, and that he or she will discuss the free-response questions only if the specific questions on the exam are released on the College Board website two days after the exam administration.

Discussion of Exam Content

No one, other than the students as they are taking the exam, is allowed access to the multiple-choice questions at any time. This section is always kept secure because some questions are reused for purposes of establishing exam reliability among forms over time. It is for this reason that students seal the multiple-choice booklets at the end of the administration and are not permitted to share information about these questions with anyone (including their AP teachers) after the exam is over. The entire multiple-choice section, including content and questions, must never be shared, copied, or reconstructed by students or teachers after the exam.

Students and educators may discuss only the specific free-response questions that are released on the College Board website two days after the exam administration (a subset of students will receive exam forms or questions that will not be released on the College Board website). Discussion of these questions may not begin until that time. If the free-response questions in the exam are not released, they may never be discussed. The free-response section of the alternate form of the exam used for late testing is not released and may never be discussed or shared in any way. For most exams, the free-response questions appear in the Section II exam booklet, which must be returned to the AP Program. Free-response questions for some exams (e.g., English Language and Composition) appear in an additional orange Section II booklet, which must also be returned to the AP Program. Free-response questions must never be photocopied by students or teachers after the exam.

Access to Exams

AP teachers may not serve as AP Coordinators, proctors, readers, or scribes at an exam in their subject area.

Teachers, college faculty or instructors, department chairs, tutors, individuals involved in test-preparation services, or educators of any kind (including, but not limited to, curriculum specialists, school counselors or administrators) must not take, or review the content of, an AP Exam.

Making photocopies of any portion of any exam is strictly prohibited. No one, except the students as they take the exam, should see the exam content.
Administering AP Exams

AP Exam materials (with the exception of Studio Art portfolios and Setup CDs for AP Chinese and Japanese) must always be kept in locked storage (not accessible to students or teachers) before and after the exam administration. Before dismissing students, the proctor must account for all exam booklets, answer sheets, tapes, and CDs. All students must be dismissed from the testing room at the same time. However, for exams that use special equipment and may require multiple groups of students to record speaking responses at different times, those students may be dismissed when their group completes the last section of the exam. These exams include AP French, AP German, AP Italian, and AP Spanish Language and Culture. AP Music Theory students may be dismissed individually after they complete their sight-singing performances.

Either the AP Coordinator or a designated proctor must be present at all times in every room in which AP Exams are being administered. No one, other than those testing, should be in the room before, during, or immediately following the exam. All secure exam materials (including used and unused exam booklets and master CDs) must be returned to the AP Program.

Exam Room
Prohibited in the exam room: Electronic equipment (cell phone, smart phone, smartwatch, laptop, tablet computer, etc.), portable listening or recording devices (MP3 player, iPod, etc.), cameras or other photographic equipment, devices that can access the Internet, and any other electronic or communication devices. A student observed with any of these devices during testing or breaks may be dismissed from the exam room, and the device may be confiscated.

Refer to the AP Coordinator’s Manual for a complete list of what students should not bring to the exam room.

Choose Proctors
The following proctor eligibility criteria are designed to help schools avoid any real or perceived conflict of interest. Please be aware that a conflict of interest may result in score cancellation. Only the AP Coordinator and any designated proctors may handle secure exam materials before and following the AP Exam administration. Proctors must be responsible adults; they may not be high school students. Proctors may be educational professionals, substitute teachers, or members of the administrative staff. Teachers, AP or other, may only serve as proctors for exams in a subject area other than the one in which they teach. Retired teachers may serve as proctors for exams in a subject area other than the one in which they have taught. For example, a ninth-grade English teacher or a retired English teacher may not proctor the AP English Literature and Composition Exam but could proctor the AP Biology Exam. The only exception to this policy is AP Studio Art — the AP Studio Art teacher should be present when 2-D Design and Drawing students assemble the Quality (Selected Works) sections of their portfolios, which consist of five actual artworks. Refer to the AP Coordinator’s Manual for the complete proctor eligibility criteria, including a breakdown of AP subject areas.

To avoid a conflict of interest, proctors must not:

► Be employed part or full time at a test preparation company;
► Participate in any coaching activity that addresses the content of secure College Board tests;
► Take any AP Exam or review in any manner the content of the exam; or ► Proctor an AP Exam or handle materials for an exam in the year in which an immediate family or household member may be taking that exam. This is the case whether the immediate family or household member is at the school where the proctor works or at any other school.

See the “Preparing Proctors” section of the AP Coordinator’s Manual for more information.

Select Testing Sites and Testing Rooms
Most AP Exams are given in a school’s classrooms, library, gym, or cafeteria. The rooms chosen for administering AP Exams should provide the best possible conditions for a student’s performance and exam security. Disruptive events, such as fire drills, should be scheduled for another time. A clock should be clearly visible to all students.

Off-Site Testing
Community facilities may also be used if the rooms are appropriate in size and configuration and all security procedures can be followed. Some schools prefer testing in community centers, church halls, hotels, public libraries, or local colleges to avoid disruptions. Each subject exam must be administered in its entirety at one location only.

If schools are testing students off-site, Coordinators or proctors may not take the exams home, store them in their cars, or store them in off-site locations. Coordinators should review the room setup prior to exam day to confirm that all desks and tables have been set up in compliance with the seating requirements.

Multischool Exam Centers
Schools near one another may administer AP Exams at a single location by forming a multischool exam center. Principals of the participating schools designate a single AP Coordinator on their schools’ individual AP Participation Forms. This Coordinator is responsible for ordering all exams for these schools. Schools that order exams individually but test collectively run the risk of needing to retest students. All exam materials must be placed in secure storage at the designated Coordinator’s school until exam day and must not be distributed to multiple locations. A multischool center may administer its exams at more than one location; however, each subject exam must be administered in its entirety at one location only.

Obtain Special Equipment
Some exams require special equipment. Detailed information about these requirements can be found in the AP Coordinator’s Manual and/or the AP Exam Instructions book.

Please note that:

- The AP Music Theory Exam, and AP French, German, Italian, and Spanish Language and Culture Exams require compact disc players and either digital or cassette tape-recording equipment, depending on a school’s exam administration preferences. Recording on microcassettes is not permitted. If desired, the speaking or sight-singing portions of these exams may be administered in a language or computer lab. Schools that choose to record student responses on computer in MP3 format should go to www.collegeboard.org/apcoordinator in mid-March for more information about recording on computer.

- The AP Spanish Literature and Culture Exam requires a compact disc player. Recording equipment is not needed since there is no recording of audio responses for this exam.

- The AP Chinese Language and Culture and Japanese Language and Culture Exams are delivered on CD and have specific hardware and software requirements, including headphones. Refer to the AP Coordinator’s Manual for details.

- The AP Biology, Calculus, Chemistry, Physics, and Statistics Exams allow the use of a calculator on all or selected portions of the exams. Visit www.collegeboard.org/ap/calculatorpolicy for details.

- The AP Studio Art Exam includes an online portfolio submission component. Students, teachers, and Coordinators must have access to a computer with an Internet connection in order to create and submit the digital sections of the AP Studio Art portfolio. A digital camera is also needed to capture digital images of students’ artworks.

Return AP Exams
All secure AP Exam materials (exam booklets, the orange booklets included with some of the exams, exams on CD, and master CDs):

- Must be shipped before close of business the day following the school’s last scheduled exam of a particular AP Exam administration period (i.e., regular or late). For example, a school that administers its last regularly scheduled exam on a Friday must return its exams on the following Monday;

- Should be returned in one shipment, except if a school has elected the split shipment option. Schools ordering more than 150 exams are encouraged to select the split shipment option when placing their initial order. This allows the return of all first-week AP Exam materials at the beginning of the second week of testing, rather than storing the exams for the entire two weeks. (Note that Braille and large-type exam materials are shipped to schools separately from the regular exam materials and should be returned separately. Also note that exams administered on the regularly scheduled exam dates should not be returned in the same shipment as exams administered on the late-testing dates.); and

- Must be packed in the special cartons in which they were received. Using other cartons may delay receipt or result in a damaged shipment causing lost exam materials.

The AP Coordinator’s Manual provides detailed instructions for packing and returning all exam materials.

Pay for AP Exams
June 15 is the postmark deadline for AP Exam payments and invoices. To calculate their payment, AP Coordinators must go to the AP Exam Ordering website at www.collegeboard.org/school and follow the instructions for generating, printing, and returning their invoices with payment.
Overview of AP Exam Scores

Each AP Exam score is a weighted combination of the student’s scores on the multiple-choice section and the free-response section. The final score is reported on a 5-point scale. Although colleges and universities are responsible for setting their own credit and placement policies, AP scores offer a recommendation on how qualified students are to receive college credit or placement:

- 5 = extremely well qualified
- 4 = well qualified
- 3 = qualified
- 2 = possibly qualified
- 1 = no recommendation

The AP Program periodically conducts studies to compare the performance of AP students with the performance of college students in parallel courses. For most AP subjects, results indicate that:

- AP Exam scores of 5 are equivalent to grades of A+ and A in the corresponding college course.
- AP Exam scores of 4 are equivalent to grades of A-, B+, and B in college.
- AP Exam scores of 3 are equivalent to grades of B-, C+, and C in college.

AP Score Reporting

AP score reports are available in July to designated colleges, students, high schools, and districts. The reports are cumulative and include scores for all the AP Exams a student has ever taken, unless the student has requested that one or more scores be canceled or withheld from a college. Although most AP score reports are available in July, some reports take longer to process because of problems with identification information or the late arrival of materials from the testing location. Students whose score reports are not available by Sept. 1 should contact AP Services for Students.

Reports, Services, and Awards for Students

Students can view their AP scores online at apscore.org beginning in early July. At that time they are able to view and send scores from the current year and previous years’ exams. On the first AP answer sheet students fill out, they can indicate a college or university to receive their score report at no cost. If students want to send a score report to a college at a later time, they can do so for a fee.

The following additional score reporting services and awards are available to students. See page 29 for applicable fees.

- Score Withholding: Students can withhold one or more scores from the college specified on their AP answer sheet.
- Score Cancellation: Students can delete a score permanently from their records.
- Free-Response Booklets: Students can request their free-response booklets from the 2015 exam administration. No comments, corrections, or scores are included. Booklets for exams whose free-response questions are not released on the College Board website (e.g., late-testing exams) are not available.
- Multiple-Choice Rescore Service: Students can request to have their multiple-choice answer sheets rescoring by hand.
- AP Scholar Awards: Each September, through the AP Scholar Awards, the College Board recognizes high school students who have demonstrated exemplary college-level achievement on AP Exams. Certificates are sent directly to students who qualify, and a roster of award recipients is provided online to their secondary schools and districts. For more information, visit www.collegeboard.org/apscholar.
- The AP International Diploma (APID) is a globally recognized certificate that challenges students to display exceptional achievement across several disciplines. For more information regarding the APID, visit apcentral.collegeboard.org/apid (educators) or www.collegeboard.org/apid (students).

Students can find additional information on score reporting services and awards in the Bulletin for AP Students and Parents, in the AP Student Pack, and at www.collegeboard.org/apstudents.
Reports and Services for Schools

Schools access their score reports online at scores.collegeboard.org. For more information about the reports and who has access to them, visit www.collegeboard.org/onlineapscores.

Score Reports Available Online
Each school automatically receives the score reports listed below:

- AP Instructional Planning Report
  The AP Instructional Planning Report compares students’ performance in the multiple-choice and free-response sections and on specific topics in each AP Exam to the performance of all students, helping teachers target areas for increased attention and focus in the curriculum.

- Subject Score Roster
  This roster is available for each AP subject at your school, listing all students and their AP scores in that subject.

- School Score Roster
  This cumulative roster lists all AP students at your school who tested during a specific administration and their AP scores.

- School Scholar Roster
  This roster shows all AP students who earned an AP Scholar Award and their AP Exam scores.

- Scholar Summary Report
  This new AP Scholar Summary Report shows the total number of students who earned an AP Scholar Award in your school by award type and their average scores. A district view of this report aggregated by award type and school is also available.

- Student Score Report
  This report contains individual, cumulative reports for each AP student at your school, listing scores for each AP Exam taken by that student.

- Student Datafile
  This downloadable file contains student score report data for each AP student who tested during the most recent exam year. This information can be uploaded to other systems or used for internal analysis and planning. Instructions for formatting the files for MS Excel are available at www.collegeboard.org/apdatafile.

- Current Year Score Summary
  This report shows the total number of each AP score (1 to 5) for each AP subject offered at your school.

- Five-Year School Score Summary
  This report contains five years of data at the school, state, and global levels. It also provides subject-specific summaries of total exams, scores, and mean scores.

- School Summary by Student Demographics
  Report summarizing AP Exams at your school by students' grade level, ethnicity, gender, and fee-reduction status. Comparisons include number of exams, score, mean score, and standard deviation.

- School Summary with Comparable Groups
  Report comparing AP Exams at your school to those of comparable groups (i.e., state, nation, global). Comparisons include number of exams, score, mean score, and standard deviation.

- AP Equity and Excellence Report
  This report displays the percentages of your school's entire 10th-, 11th-, and 12th-grade classes that scored a 3 or higher on at least one AP Exam and the percentage of the senior class that scored a 3 or higher on at least one AP Exam during high school.

- College and University Totals
  This report lists which colleges and universities received your students’ AP scores.

Additional Score Reporting Services
In addition to the score reports available automatically online, schools can order score report labels and free-response booklets at www.collegeboard.org/school.

- Score Labels
  Individual schools may order their students’ scores on pressure-sensitive labels that attach to student records. Each label contains the student’s name, Social Security number (if provided by the student) or birth date, the AP Exams taken, the years in which the exams were taken, and the scores received. The labels are sent in mid-July and cost $100 per set.

Schools are responsible for maintaining student privacy and the confidentiality of AP scores. Only students have the right to forward their AP scores to colleges and universities. Therefore, schools should use caution in affixing AP score labels to transcripts or other records that will be sent to these institutions; doing so may result in a violation of students’ rights and expose schools to potential lawsuits. To avoid this possibility, the AP Program strongly suggests that schools institute one of the following procedures:

- Affix the AP score label to the back of the transcript and copy only the front of the transcript when sending it to colleges.

- Have students sign a release permitting the school to put the score report label on the front of the transcript. Keep the signed releases with students’ files.
Free-Response Booklets
Schools may request their students’ free-response booklets (paper format). Schools that plan to make this request should note that their order includes the entire school’s booklets minus those requested by students. Schools cannot limit their order to booklets for certain students or certain exams. No comments, corrections, or scores are included.

Free-response booklets are only available for exams whose free-response questions are released on the College Board website two days after the exam administration.

The fee is based on the number of booklets received by the school:
- 1–20: $60
- 21–50: $120
- 51–100: $180
- More than 100: $300

Schools can order free-response booklets on the AP Exam Ordering website, and the deadline for ordering is Sept. 15. The booklets are sent to schools beginning in mid-October; schools should receive the booklets no later than mid-December.

District Summary by School
Contains a summary of the total numbers and percentages of each AP score (1 to 5) by subject in your district, and total number of exams, by subject, given by each school in your district.

District Summary by Student Demographics
Includes summaries of AP scores in your district by grade level, ethnicity, gender, and fee-reduction status. These summaries are also available by individual school, in the school summary by student demographics report.

District Summary with Comparable Groups
Compares AP scores in your district to comparable groups overall (i.e., state, nation, global). Comparisons include mean score, standard deviation, and number of schools per exam. These summaries are also available by individual school, in the school summary with comparable groups report.

On the Web

College Board Website for Education Professionals
The College Board’s website for education professionals serves as the online home for AP Coordinators and school administrators. The “Testing” section (www.collegeboard.org/ap/testing) provides a wealth of content, tools, and downloads to help schools administer AP Exams.

AP Central
AP Central® (apcentral.collegeboard.org) is the College Board’s online home for AP teachers. The site is free for all users and features content written by AP teachers for AP teachers.

AP Credit Policy Information
Students can find colleges with AP credit policies online by visiting AP Credit Policy Info at www.collegeboard.org/ap/creditpolicy.

Share AP
Counselors can find resources to help them inform and inspire students considering AP courses and exams at www.collegeboard.org/shareap.

Online Score Reports
Schools and districts can access their students’ AP scores online at scores.collegeboard.org.

SSD Online
Information for Services for Students with Disabilities is available at www.collegeboard.org/ssd.

AP Coordinator Community
All AP Coordinators are encouraged to join the AP Coordinator Community, an online collaboration space moderated by a fellow AP Coordinator, where Coordinators can connect with colleagues, share resources, and discover and exchange ideas. Learn more at apcommunity.collegeboard.org/web/apcoordinators.

AP International University Recognition
More than 600 universities outside the United States, in more than 60 countries, recognize AP for credit, placement, and/or admission decisions. A full listing of these institutions, with their policies and current contact information, is available at www.collegeboard.org/apintl.

Professional Development Opportunities

AP Annual Conference
The AP Annual Conference is the largest gathering of the AP and Pre-AP® communities, AP Coordinators, school counselors, and administrators from across the United States and throughout the world. The 2015 conference will be held Wednesday, July 22, through Sunday, July 26, in Austin, TX. Visit apac.collegeboard.org for details.

Workshops and Summer Institutes for AP Teachers
The College Board offers AP professional development workshops throughout the academic year. Each workshop concentrates on the teaching of a specific AP subject, with the focus on instructional strategies and the management of an AP course.

AP Summer Institutes are intensive, subject-specific sessions held at colleges and universities, usually conducted over the course of a week. They provide in-depth preparation for teaching AP courses.

Visit apcentral.collegeboard.org/events for details. Information on opportunities outside the United States may be found at professionals.collegeboard.org/prof-dev/international.

College Board AP Fellows Program
The College Board AP Fellows Program provides scholarships for secondary school teachers planning to teach AP courses in schools that serve students who have been traditionally underrepresented in AP classes. The $1,000 scholarships assist teachers with the cost of attending an AP Summer Institute. To qualify, a school’s student population must be composed of at least 50 percent traditionally underrepresented minority students or at least 50 percent students who qualify for free or reduced-price meals. Scholarship applications will be available online this fall at www.collegeboard.org/apfellows. Applications must be submitted by Jan. 16, 2015.

Free AP Coordinator Workshops
The College Board encourages AP Coordinators to take advantage of free one-day workshops that cover all aspects of the AP Exam administration. The workshops are held in each College Board region throughout the year. AP Coordinators can visit apcentral.collegeboard.org/events to register. AP Coordinators can also visit www.collegeboard.org/apcoordinaturitutorial for an online tutorial covering their responsibilities before, during, and after the AP Exam administration.
Materials and Resources for AP Teachers

Course Audit
Teachers have access to the following resources available at www.collegeboard.org/apcourseaudit:

- Annotated sample syllabi
- Syllabus development guides
- Syllabus self-evaluation checklist
- List of example textbooks
- Practice exams (through AP Course Audit accounts)

AP Course Home Pages
Each AP subject has a Course Home Page (apcentral.collegeboard.org/coursehomepages), which features up-to-date information on the courses and exams, such as official course descriptions and released exams. In addition, there are articles and reviews of materials written by AP teachers.

Redesigned AP Courses
Information and resources about courses currently undergoing a redesign are available on the Advances in AP website at advancesinap.collegeboard.org.

For information about the redesigned AP Physics 1: Algebra-Based, AP Physics 2: Algebra-Based, and AP United States History courses (which launch in fall 2014), visit their Course Home Pages on AP Central (apcentral.collegeboard.org/coursehomepages).

AP Teacher Communities
An online collaboration space, moderated by fellow educators, where AP teachers can connect with colleagues, share classroom-ready materials, and discover and exchange ideas.
